

Advanced Business Intelligence - Online

AvalisBI – the BI Gold Standard

Your business depends on accurate, timely management information to enable your managers to make informed and effective decisions. Everyone in your business needs access to reliable information so that they can effectively pursue your common goals. Operational data is easily obtained from standard business applications, but true management and strategic information rarely is. AvalisBI solutions address this need, enabling you to obtain an integrated view of your companies data, not islands of data. You can integrate sales, purchasing, manufacturing, and financial data in a single place. Everyone can analyse and report on a single, reliable source of information, sharing knowledge with their colleagues. This is what is known as 'Business Intelligence', or BI for short. Normally to obtain this level of integration requires many hours of effort, and consequently is very costly, putting such solutions beyond the reach of smaller companies.

This is why AvalisBI is pioneering the first integrated, online Business Intelligence solution for financial and sales analysis. Because AvalisBI is delivered as a utility-like service, where you like – when you like; and is easy to learn and use, companies can focus on managing their business – instead of managing software technology.

The core technology behind AvalisBI is used by companies all over the world to grow revenues, manage costs and increase profitability.

AvalisBI – shared Business Intelligence for small business and teams

Improving bottom-line results isn't just for big business. Neither is Business Intelligence.

In today's business climate, access to the right information at the right time is as critical to any business as solid financial practices. Whether your organisation is a small, medium sized enterprise (SME) or a workgroup within a larger enterprise, you can improve your competitive advantage – and your bottom line – through better access to vital business information.

AvalisBI enables SMEs and workgroups to easily and affordably organise, centralise and share business intelligence to achieve success. Unlike limited analysis tools, such as Excel, that trap data on individual desktops, or at best on a shared server, AvalisBI enables an entire team to make and share up-to-the-minute analyses of your companies vital data. You don't have to endure painful and unreliable reconciliations of data from different sources, out-of-date information or poor visibility of your key information. With AvalisBI, all your data is available, all of the time, with guaranteed consistency and accuracy. No more arguments about whose figures are correct; no more 'islands of data'.

The end result is that your team can readily work together, using your information to improve your performance, instead of wasting time, and more importantly money, on the mechanics of producing the information.

Best of all, AvalisBI is priced at a level dramatically lower than conventional information technology solutions, while delivering outstanding functionality and benefits. With no hardware or software to buy, install, or maintain, you can be up-and-running immediately – without using any IT resources, or hiring expensive outside consultants. This translates into a fast and sizeable return on investment, making AvalisBI the obvious choice for SMEs and workgroups.

AvalisBI – shared Business Intelligence for small business and teams

A true 360-degree solution, AvalisBI provides core Financial and Sales analysis so that you can easily analyse, report and share your key financial and sales information with colleagues, whether they are sitting in the next office, or at the other end of the country. AvalisBI includes everything your small business or workgroup needs to effectively manage your finance, sales and marketing functions :

- Built in 'intelligence' of your business – it automatically understands your key reporting structures.
- A pre-defined library of intelligent report templates for finance, sales and marketing analysis.
- Advanced, yet easy-to-use, ad-hoc reporting and analysis tools.
- Common repository of information, common structures.
- Understands Sage Line 50. (Links to other applications in development or by request).
- Easily extensible to analyse data other than finance, sales, and marketing. (Ask your account manager for details).

Accessible from anywhere, anytime, using a broadband or standard dial-up connection and web browser, our user-friendly, turnkey solution requires minimal training and can be implemented in days or even hours. Because our browser based interface is so easy to learn and use, your entire team can be up-to-speed immediately, working together to build a profitable organisation.

AvalisBI – Easy growth path to comprehensive BI

A key advantage of AvalisBI is the ability to easily extend your solution with additional modules as your business evolves and grows.

AvalisBI developers are continually developing new modules to meet specific business requirements, and these can be added at any time to your subscription. Simply contact your account manager and you can be up and running with additional modules the next business day. Our development partners are also developing modules which can be added in the same way, combining their expertise with the best in business intelligence.

If you need a module that doesn't already exist, then we can probably develop this quickly and easily, again speak to your account manager for further details.

So AvalisBI is a system that can grow with you, meanwhile you only pay for what you need.

AvalisBI – Secure online infrastructure that grows with your business

At the heart of AvalisBI is our secure online infrastructure that powers our ability to deliver affordable, shared business intelligence for any organisation, small or large.

Designed to support hundreds of users our online infrastructure leverages economies of scale, making our solution the most cost-effective on the market. Because the same core infrastructure supports multiple solutions for businesses with different needs, you only buy the services you want, seamlessly upgrading to more advanced options as your business requirements grow and develop.

As an AvalisBI customer you get premier online Business Intelligence solutions tailored precisely for your business, regular feature enhancements, and state-of-the-art security, performance, scalability, and reliability measures – all delivered automatically, and most importantly, at a price you can afford.

There is no hardware or software to buy, install, or maintain. Even system upgrades and company-specific customisations are delivered instantly and transparently to every user. Because we have invested heavily in some of the most advanced technology for internet security, disaster recovery, and backup protection, you benefit from proven security measures ensuring your important business information remains safe and secure.

AvalisBI – Easy to grasp, easy to use, immediate results

A single system for all your management reporting and analysis. AvalisBI enables you to end the nightmare of trying to analyse and report data from disparate sources in spreadsheets, or isolated bespoke reporting systems by providing a single, shared solution meeting all management reporting and analysis needs.

Inuitive Interface. AvalisBI understands that busy managers don't have time to try and learn a complicated system. So our interface has been designed to be easy to use, so you can spend more time running your business, and less time reading user manuals.

Rapid deployment. AvalisBI is the fastest and easiest business intelligence solution to deploy. With our intelligent data extract utilities, automated calculation engine, and free training, most small business customers can successfully implement AvalisBI within days – without requiring any additional IT resources.

Affordable Price. Providing unbeatable value, AvalisBI enables small businesses with tight budgets to start managing their precious business data, gaining and sharing useful and important insights into their business.

Bundled support. At AvalisBI, we recognise that support is an integral part of any small business solution. While other software solutions disappear after 6 months or a year, we stand behind our solution by automatically packaging support with our product – ultimately saving you from hidden support costs that can run into hundreds of pounds.

Seamless upgrade path. As a small business owner you need a solution that can grow with your organisation. AvalisBI provides a seamless upgrade path, allowing you to progress to more advanced options as your business requirements evolve.

AvalisBI are also committed to continuous development and enhancements of the core solutions. These enhancements are automatically applied to your system, with no intervention required by you. We also welcome any suggestions for enhancements and will acknowledge and reward users who suggest enhancements that subsequently become part of the core solution.
